From the Director O. D. Alexander

The global economy crisis is quickly affecting the economy of the United States. The global economy includes the globalization of ser- VICES, products and production, markets, finance, information, communications, and the labor force. Consequently, the free public libraries in the United States are also definitely a part of this economic crisis that is affecting all Americans.

Citizens of the United States who have enjoyed the services and products of the free public libraries are now realizing that they are witnessing the tail end of an informational and recreational privilege that many other countries have never enjoyed. These free libraries that may have been taken for granted by some community members, are now re-evaluating free offerings. Some of them are actually considering including fees for services and products in order to survive, while others are being forced to close doors.

I know that, the Gary Public Library will continue to be a trendsetter in creating relevant free programs, activities, and information for the growth and development of our ever changing society. In addition, we will continue to expand our role as civic agents-infusing public values and competencies for the anticipation of the needs and desires of the Gary community.

The Gary Public Library (GPL) is a Federal Depository Library Program (FDLP). This actually means that the system is connected with respect to an insured depository institution (as defined in section 3 (c) (2) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act for which no conservator or receiver has been appointed (US Legal, <http://definitions.uslegal.com/f/federal-depository-institutions-regulatory-agency/>, accessed December 21, 2011).

With the creation of the South Shore Museum and Cultural Center (SSMCC) that will be housed at the Gary Public Library on West Fifth Avenue, there have been numerous questions of concerns. One major question has been: What will happen to the Federal Depository Collection (Government Documents) that has been designated at GPL? And yes, we should be concerned about the Federal Depository Collection and the professional services that we render to our community. In other words, the documents should continue to be accessible to the public.

According to Elisabeth Hedges, Federal Documents Librarian with the Indiana State Library, the Gary Public Library system will be able to continue as a depository even if the materials are housed at a separate facility. This is because SSMCC will still be under the guidance of GPL. Therefore, the Selective Housing Agreement will not be necessary.

Library Closures

January 1, 2012 marked the permanent closure of the Main Library, 220 W. 5th Avenue (above) and the Tolleston Branch, 1113 Taft St., (below).

To return Main Library materials (books, DVDs, magazines, etc.) patrons are encouraged to use the book drop (located in the north/parking lot entrance) or return items to any Gary Public Library branch.

Coming in the summer of 2012 at the 220 W. 5th Avenue location will be the South Shore Museum & Cultural Center.

Chess Fest

Chess players of all levels and ages are invited to improve or test their chess skills at the Gary Public Library's Du Bois Branch, Saturday, February 4 from 12 - 3:30pm. This free event is sponsored by the Friends of the Gary Public Library.

The public is invited to meet special guests Bernard Parham and Sedrick Prude. Chess sets will be provided but players may also bring their own. For more information contact Dan at 886-2484 ext. 335.

System-Wide Program: African American Reading Quilt

Book Review

by O. D. Alexander

Ivan Van Sertima, (1976), They Came Before Columbus: The African presence in Ancient America, (New York: Random House)

Thirty-six years ago, They Came Before Columbus: The African presence in Ancient America by Ivan Van Sertima became a component in the treasure chest of scholarship in libraries and cultural centers globally, and the Gary Public Library was able to secure copies for its community too.

This well-researched, novel-like historical acquisition actually chronicles

- February 1 - 29. During library hours for grades K-6th. A book patch will be displayed for each African American book read. Note: books can be read in each unit and parent or guardian can read to children who cannot read.

the Black African Presence in Ancient America far beyond the claim discoveries of Christopher Columbus. The late Ivan Van Sertima, then a professor at Rutgers the State University of New Jersey, illustrated the historical and cultural relationship that existed between Africa and America during the Pre-Columbian period.

In twelve detailed chapters, the book starts off with some fascinating conversations between Christopher Columbus and Don Juan, the King of Portugal, after Columbus' first voyage to the Indies. To be sure, Don Juan is not at all interested in any of Columbus' so-called discoveries. However, he really wants to know a little more concerning the secret trade route to the Americas that the Africans had been traveling for some time. This secret trade route was Hopefully, this information will satisfy the informational needs and concerns of the tax payers. And if you have additional concerns, that will make GPL a better place for all, please feel free to share them with us in person or by technology.

Meet the Director

The Gary Public Library Board of Trustees recently appointed Otis D. Alexander, Director of the Gary Public Library.

Alexander is the former director of Southeastern University Library (DC) and the Danville (VA) Public Library System, as well as the Associate Librarian at Cuttington University College (Republic of Liberia), and Head Librarian for the Virgin Islands Division of Libraries, Museums, and Archaeological Services at the Frederiksted Branch.

He has also been a Public Services Librarian at Saint Paul's College; and lecturer in the Arts & Science Division at the Danville Community College where he taught "Controversial Issues in Contemporary American Culture," and "Introduction to African-American Studies." In addition, he has taught the following courses, "20th century American Poetry," "Harlem Renaissance Literature," "Children's Literature," and "Research Skills."

Alexander, who is an accomplished classical musician and storyteller, earned the BA in Urban Studies and music, and an MS in Media Science from the Federal City College now the University of the District of Columbia. He also received an ALA accredited MLS degree in Library & Information Science from Ball State University (Indiana). He studied at the Harvard Graduate School of Education Leadership Institute for Academic Librarians and Oberlin Conservatory of Music Institute for Voice Performance Pedagogy.

His doctoral dissertation at International University for Graduate Studies, "Public Library Services to Underrepresented Groups: Poor & Unemployed, Emphasizing Danville, Virginia" appeared in Public Library Quarterly, (Volume 27 Issue 2 2008) as well as book chapters and articles appeared in Still Not Equal: Expanding Educational Opportunity in Society, Virginia Libraries, Scribner's Encyclopedia of American Lives: The 1960s, African American National Biography, and ilovelibraries.org.

Don Juan was constructing there.

In this historical account, Professor Van Sertima also highlights the Mali Empire, Mandingo Traders in Medieval Mexico, the Black Kings of the twenty-fifth Dynasty, and other aspects and evidence documenting the Black African impact in Pre-Columbian America. This was an area in which scholar Alex Haley did not emphasize in Roots.

So make this African-American History Month a real treat

by traveling to the Gary Public Library's Carter G. Woodson, W. E. B. Du Bois, Brunswick and Kennedy Branches, and ask the librarian for a copy of They Came Before Columbus. You may read it there or check it out, but more importantly explore for yourself the experience of this book and see how Professor Van Sertima has added to the wide body of knowledge with scholarship, dignity and pride.
