New Online
DATABASES
@ garypubliclibrary.org

The Gary Public Library is now offering its patrons the Mango Languages online language-learning system and Freegal Music, digital music file downloads. Both resources are available through the library's website, www.garypubliclibrary.org and are free to patrons with a Gary Public Library card and a pin number. They may also be used on a computer or on mobile devices through a free app.

Learn a new language with Mango Language, an interactive database that provides step by step lesson plans for more than 40 different languages. Each lesson combines real life situations and audio from native speakers with simple, clear instructions. There are also over a dozen English as a Second Language courses.

Freegal Music offers access to millions of songs from thousands of labels including the labels of Sony Music Entertainment. There is no software to download. There is a weekly limit of 3 downloads (each video counts as 2 downloads). The site is set up to browse or search for your favorite music or artist.

For more information on these resources contact Pam at 886-2484 ext. 358.

EBooks - The easy, free, 24 / 7 way to check out a book. See available titles @ garypubliclibrary.org and don't forget to view all of our available online databases @ garypubliclibrary.org/subscription-database.
